Global Competition Review is delighted to publish this thirteenth annual edition of the Competition Economics Handbook.

With economics at the centre of competition law, this handbook identifies the issues that antitrust economists are tackling today. The book's comprehensive format provides contact details for competition agencies' economists in over 70 jurisdictions. A Q&A format illustrates how the advisers are organised and their input into the regulation and enforcement process.

Much of the information has been provided by the agencies themselves and we are, as ever, grateful for all their cooperation.

The Competition Economics Handbook 2020 is one of five special reports included in a Global Competition Review subscription each year, alongside four issues of the magazine, a survey on a four-year rotation (Corporate Counsel published in January 2019 and 40 Under 40, to be published in January 2020) and two signature surveys, Rating Enforcement and The GCR 100.

We would like to thank all those who have worked on the research and production of this publication.

The information listed is correct as of October 2019.

Questions and answers

How many economists do you employ?

There are 26 economists at the Competition Commission of India (CCI), including the Director General's Office.

Does the agency include a specialist economist on every case team? If not, why not?

Yes, an economist is included in almost every case team.

Do you have a separate economics unit?

Yes. The CCI has a separate economics division that ensures cohesive and systematic integration of economic analysis in the enforcement of the Act.

Do you have a chief economist?

No.

To whom does the chief economist report?

Not applicable.

Does the economist have the power to hire his or her own staff?

No.

Is the economics unit a 'second pair of eyes' during cases – is it one of the agency's checks and balances? If not, why not?

Not applicable.

How many of your economists have a PhD in industrial economics?

None.

How much economics work is outsourced? What type of work is outsourced?

Case work is mostly attended to by in-house professionals of Economics Division, who are assisted by experts and research assistants hired by CCI under regulations. As and when required, market studies are outsourced to sector experts.
